DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the application filed 3/31/2004.
2. Claims 1-29 have been examined and are pending in the application.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of U.S. Patent No. 7,213,096. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other.

Specification

4. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

5. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: there is no summary of the invention. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-3, 9-15 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zarns U.S Patent No. 6,904,489.

As to claim 1, Zarns teaches a system comprising:

a computer including:

a processor (processor element, 53-54 column 4), and a memory coupled to said processor (a memory, line 54 column 4), having:

a first USB stack (USB stack, lines 35-50 column 5); and a first remote host controller function implementing a first virtual USB port (lines 10-23 column 8); and an abstraction of a remote host controller and a host controller, coupled with said computer, operating in combination with said abstraction of a remote host controller as a USB host controller of said computer (lines 20-34 column 7).

As to claim 2, Zarns further teaches said host controller is remotely disposed from said computer (lines 20-34 column 7).

As to claim 3, Zarns further teaches said host controller is a component of said computer (lines 20-34 column 7).

As to claim 9, Zarns further teaches the first remote host controller function is equipped to provide function specific processing for a USB buffer I/O request of a function of said host controller (lines 49-61 column 7).

As to claim 10, Zarns further teaches said abstraction of a remote host controller comprises a remote host controller driver equipped to provide function independent processing to format a USB buffer I/O request for transmission to said host controller (lines 24-43 column 6).

As to claim 11, Zarns further teaches said abstraction of a remote host controller comprises a media transport equipped to transmit a USB buffer I/O request, formatted for a media type, over a media of the media type, to said host controller (lines 24-43 column 6).

As to claim 12, Zarns further teaches said host controller comprises a media transport of like type, a remote host function driver coupled to the media transport of the host controller and a USB host controller (lines 24-43 column 6).

As to claim 13, Zarns further teaches said media transport includes a communications link selected from the group consisting of: local area networks, wide area networks, personal area networks, telephone networks, wireless links, USB, IEEE 1394 and powerlines (lines 24-43 column 6).

As to claim 14, Zarns further teaches a remote device coupled to said host controller (lines 16-27 column 5).

As to claim 15, Zarns further teaches said remote device is a selected one of a digital camera, a printer, a digital music player/recorder, a keyboard and a cursor control device (lines 16-27 column 5).

As to claim 24, it is an apparatus claim of claim 1. Therefore, it is rejected for the same reasons as claim 1 above.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 16-23 allowed.

8. Claims 4-8 and 25-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
